SECTION - A : READING

Q.1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below. (1×10=10)

Technology has changed the way people learn, communicate and work. A student can now access books, lectures and educational resources from almost anywhere. This has made learning more flexible, but technology by itself cannot guarantee success. The learner must know how to use it wisely.

One major advantage of digital learning is that students can learn according to their own pace. A difficult topic can be watched or studied again, while additional information can be found within minutes. However, excessive dependence on digital devices can reduce concentration. Constant notifications, entertainment and social media may distract students from their studies.

Technology is most useful when it supports rather than replaces thoughtful learning. Students should therefore develop a balance between online and offline activities. Reading printed books, writing by hand, discussing ideas with teachers and spending time outdoors are also important. The aim should not be to avoid technology but to use it responsibly.

(i) What has technology changed?

- A. Only transportation
- B. The way people learn, communicate and work
- C. Only entertainment
- D. Only business

(ii) What is one advantage of digital learning?

- A. It prevents revision
- B. It allows learning at one's own pace
- C. It eliminates teachers
- D. It reduces access to information

(iii) Excessive use of digital devices may reduce:

- A. concentration
- B. knowledge
- C. communication
- D. curiosity

(iv) What can distract students from studies?

- A. Printed books
- B. Outdoor activities
- C. Constant notifications and entertainment
- D. Classroom discussion

(v) The word "flexible" means:

- A. difficult to change
- B. adaptable
- C. expensive
- D. unnecessary

(vi) According to the passage, technology should:

- A. completely replace books
- B. completely replace teachers
- C. support thoughtful learning

D. be avoided by students

(vii) What should students develop?

A. Dependence on social media

B. A balance between online and offline activities

C. A habit of avoiding studies

D. Only digital skills

(viii) Which activity is mentioned as important besides digital learning?

A. Playing online games

B. Reading printed books

C. Watching advertisements

D. Using social media

(ix) What is the main idea of the passage?

A. Technology is harmful in every situation

B. Technology should be used wisely and responsibly

C. Students should stop using computers

D. Digital learning is unnecessary

(x) The opposite of "responsibly" is closest to:

A. carefully

B. wisely

C. carelessly

D. properly

Q.2 Read the following passage carefully and make notes on it. Also give a suitable title. (4 Marks)

Water is one of the most important natural resources on Earth. Although a large part of our planet is covered with water, only a small amount is available for direct human use. Increasing population, expanding cities, industrial activities and careless consumption are putting pressure on freshwater resources.

Water conservation does not require only large government projects. Individuals and communities can also make a significant difference. Rainwater can be collected and stored for later use. Leaking taps and pipes should be repaired quickly. Farmers can adopt methods of irrigation that use less water. Reusing water for suitable household purposes can also reduce wastage.

Schools can play an important role by teaching students about responsible water use. Awareness campaigns, plantation drives and local water-management programmes can encourage communities to protect their water resources. Saving water today is necessary to ensure its availability for future generations.
